Holle baby food AG once again named one of the 'Best Workplaces™ in Switzerland'

Holle baby food AG, based in Riehen (Switzerland), took third place in the category Best Medium Workplaces Switzerland at this year's 'Best Workplaces™ Award' from Great Place To Work®. Holle entered the Medium category for the first time (company size 50–249 employees) and was immediately ranked in the top three. As a result, the successful rankings in the Small category from previous years were continued.

'We are very proud to have achieved third place in the Medium category. This award is a testament to our outstanding team performance and we would like to thank all our employees for their continued commitment and trust. We look forward to entering the future together and continuously developing our workplace culture,' says Anne Mutter, CEO of Holle baby food.

What the employees say

More than 29,800 employees from 220 Swiss organisations took part in the world's largest employee satisfaction survey. The award stands for outstanding achievements in the development of trusting working relationships and the creation of attractive and supportive working conditions for employees. 100% of Holle employees say: 'I'm proud to be able to tell others that I work here.' 98% of respondents believe that they can make an important contribution. 93% agree with the statement: 'All in all, this is a great place to work.'

Benny Kraml, a member of the Holle management board, explains what makes the culture at Holle so special: 'Sustainable business is part of Holle's corporate philosophy: we live sustainability honestly, transparently and right from the start. Our cooperation is shaped by a lived "we culture" and being there together for each other. I appreciate that tremendously.'
